Foreword

We came to Park...We learned and played, and this is how. Perhaps this book will add a sparkle to your memory in future years; will remind you that you are a part of Park . . .

Hail, Hail Park College . . .

All over the country summer lagged and galloped through its days while time ticked on in the empty echoing halls.

Then, a leaf fell and a taxi arrived. Trunks crisscrossed the hallways and voices crescendoed to the sun, to the top of the trees, over the hills, over the campus, beyond the sign.

And so . . . we came to Park . . .

Dedicated to . . .

Dr. Paul H. Morrill

We met our President. Striding down Mackay halls, riding through the hills, presiding over four hundred...Dr. Morrill has become the symbol of Park's leadership. Writing, planning, speaking, consulting, he has strengthened the relations of alumni and college, reinforced the purpose of faculty and staff and instilled new vigor in the student body. The sight of new buildings rising from old foundations, the sound of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," a glimpse of blazing bonfire through a crowd of cheering fans all are symbols of Dr. Morrill for Park College.

President and Mrs. Morrill...presiding over four hundred...

Brightness Lasts

Today is bright as I write this for your yearbook. The long sweep of the Missouri glistens in the sun: the trees share something of the light on their turning leaves. Soon, I suppose, grey days and rain and snow will sometimes eclipse this scene; but I predict that time will never erase the pleasant reminders you will have of 1960-61 as you turn the pages of this book. At least that is my wish for all of you.

"...queenly college on the hill,
May our hearts be ever full;
On a foreign stand
Or our native land
Thou still shall be home sweet home."

Paul H. Morrill

PARKVILLE

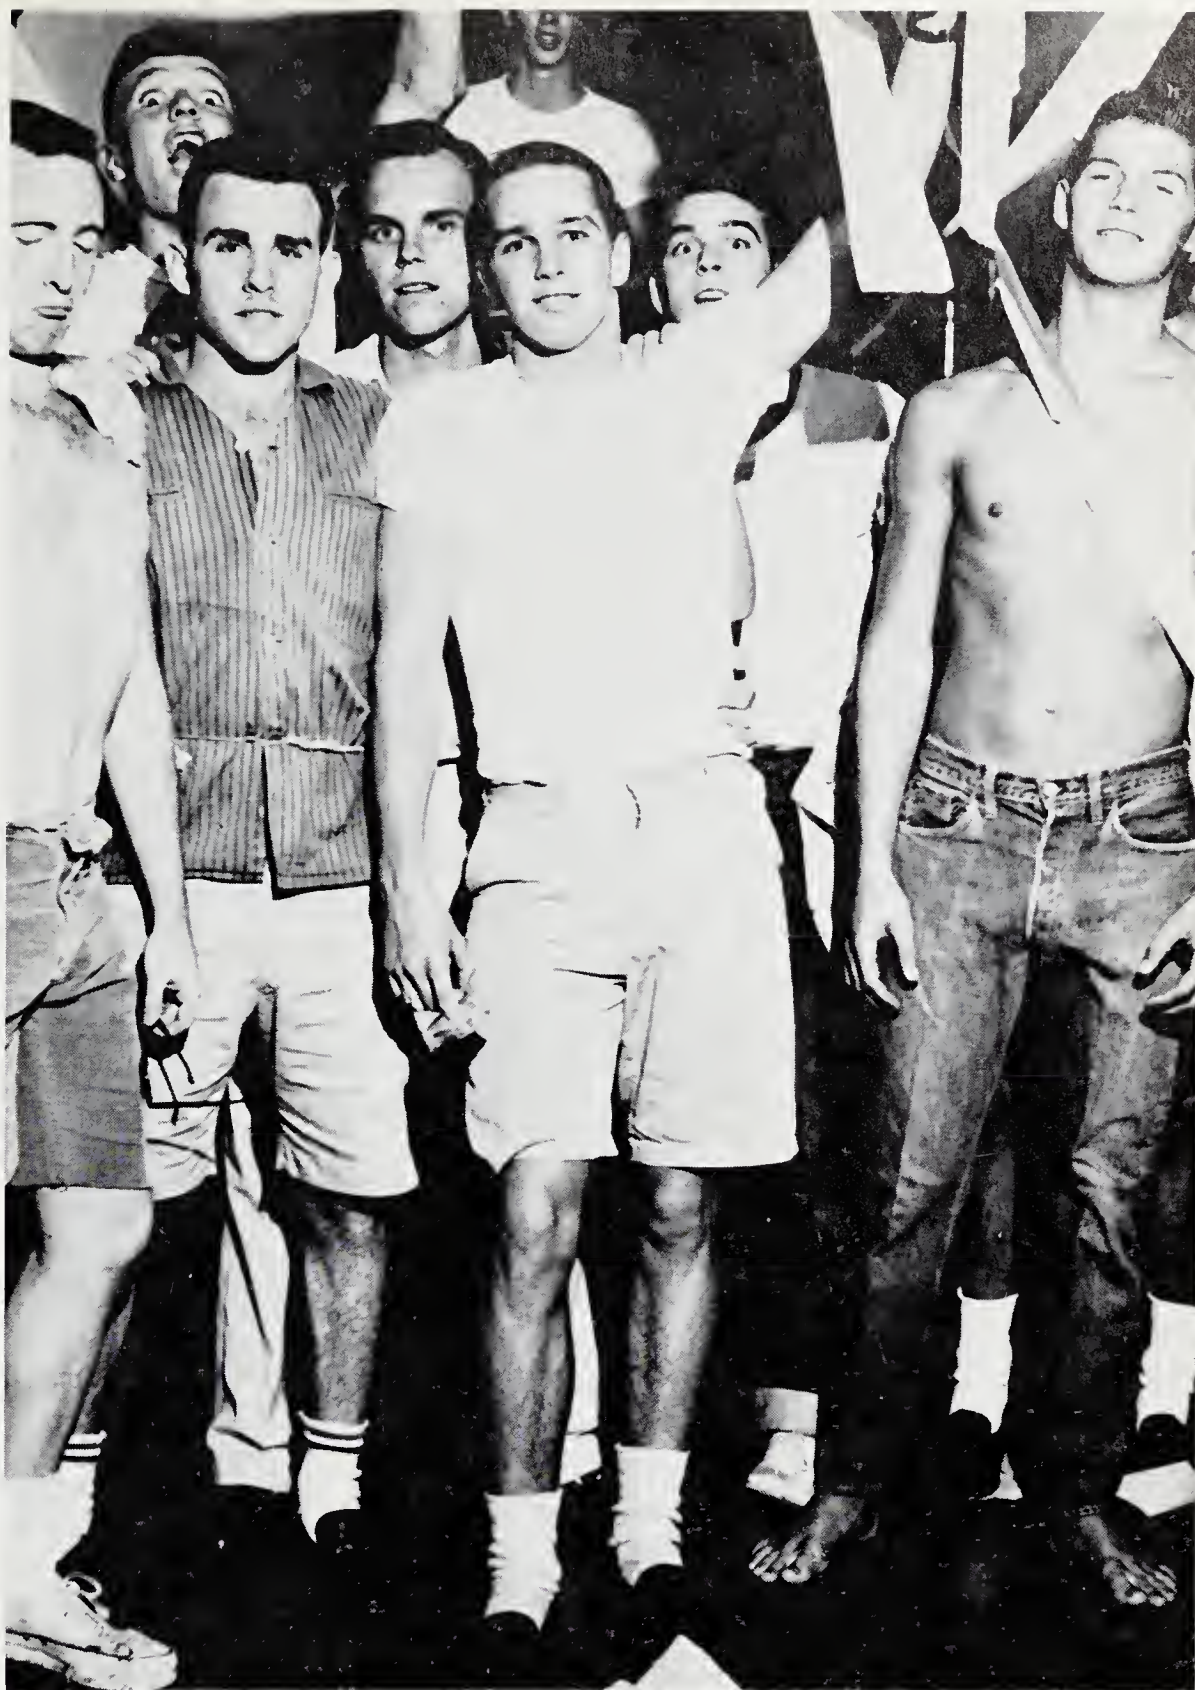

We came on a cool clear Sunday...

Life at Park
begins ...

...the beginning of
life at Park.

We came on a cool clear Sunday:
a great globule of noise and color
which plopped onto the basking hills.
Hugs and handshakes, lounging and hurrying, summer-browned legs, the pushing and pulling and tugging of trunks and dressers...that is the beginning of life at Park.

shouts and whispers, hugs and handshakes...

Campus Church picnic
on Alfalfa Point.

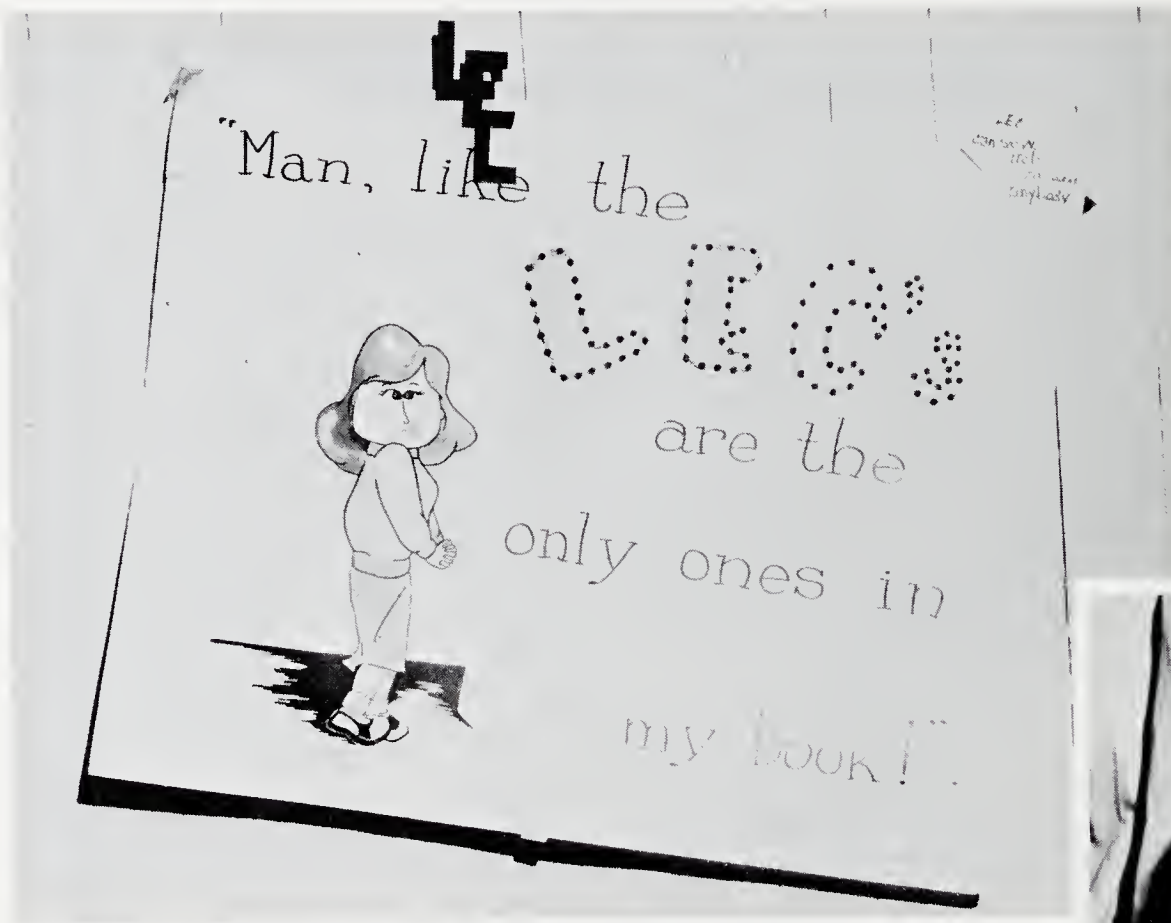

We rushed the freshmen...

We rushed the freshmen...gossiped and made favors, tiptoed through silent freshman halls feeling like rather clumsy relatives of the "tooth fairy" with our club tokens. We gathered together and sang, almost together, at freshman windows in the moonlight...partied and fed them steaks by candlelight.

And then they chose...and were snatched from dorms, galloped writhing down the hills to Parkville, picnicked and played a part of a chosen club...

Rush Week

Gossiped and made favors...

And then they chose...

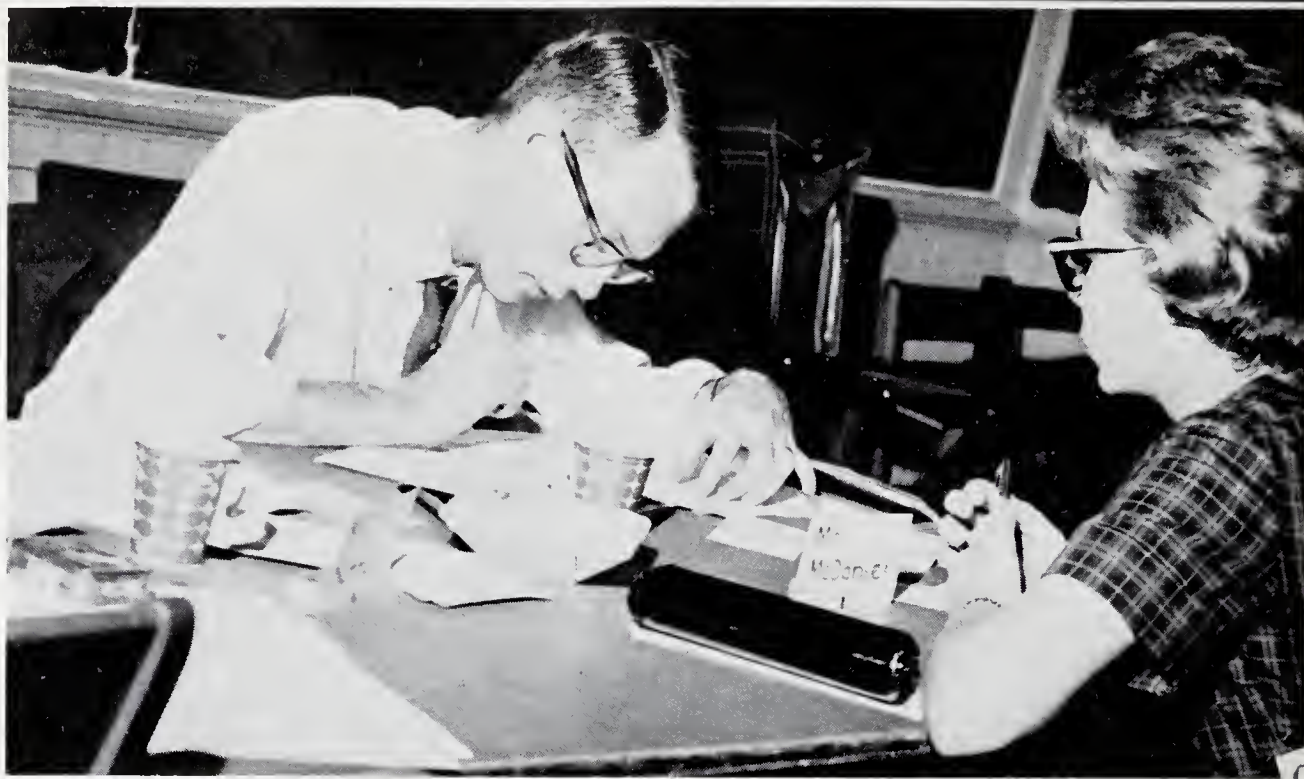

galloped writhing down the hills to Parkville...

We partied and fed them steaks by candlelight...

Registration

We were reminded of our primary goals...

prepared, we registered...

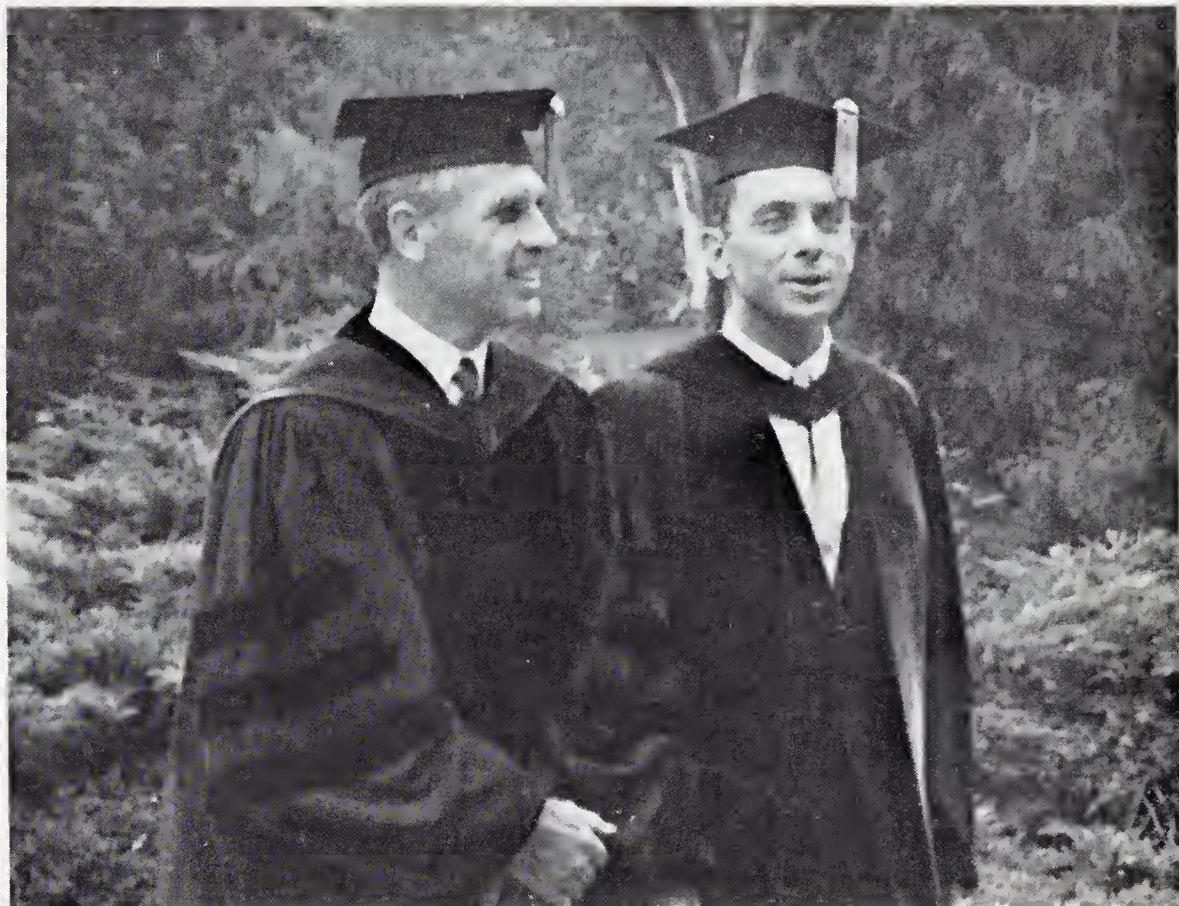

new smelling
books to be digested...

And then classes began. We were reminded of our primary goals and sat studying in the night course schedules, major requirements. Then prepared, we registered...groaned under loads of pungent smelling new books to be digested and discarded in a few months, smelling of pizza and spilled ink.

Convocation

words about learning ... adventure ...

We filed into Chapel to begin the year

We filed into chapel to begin the year with Convocation. A rainy day, a gentle tapping background to words about learning ... adventure... All spoken to a maze of color topped with serious young faces.

Goons writhed out of nothingness and night...

Frosh stood out, and up....

Good eye...Frosh!

Hell Week

Grrr... rrr

We began, and Hell interrupted. Goons writhed out of nothingness and night...

Floods arose and air raids descended...

Frosh stood out, and up, on one leg, on tables, on chairs, in lines, in circles, in pairs -- in confusion.

... in confusion.

Harvest Festival

conspired...inspired...perspired...paraded in full glory...the winning float.

We gave a passing salute to days of the old apple cellar...full growing fields, and we flung out the banner for Harvest Festival!

Nurtured slow scratchy beards, float planning conspired...inspired...perspired...paraded in full glory.

And we crowned a king and queen, sang a song, played out a thought, cheered a game, danced an evening away, repaired to Chapel with full hearts...

we crowned a king and queen

we flung out the banner for Harvest Festival...

cheered a game...

played out a thought...
"The Sign of Jonah."

Jane Gillespie, hospital cook, keeps the patients full and happy.

Louise Lake, Director of Food Service; Edith O'Connor, Assistant Director of Food Service.

The doors are finally open. . .

We learned to keep track of books. . .

Rachel E. Rush, Manager, Student Industries; and Gordon Edwards, an assistant.

Anita Palmer, before a typewriter...

Some of us worked-

A little or a lot. Somebody whistled up a broom and we swept the halls. We were set before a typewriter to type letters. We assisted professors, sorted mail, washed test tubes, built ice cream sundaes, filed papers - we were really quite talented!

Corrine Listrom, Assistant Librarian; Frances Fishburn, Librarian.

.... decorating the tree in Commons...

...the Student Union party....

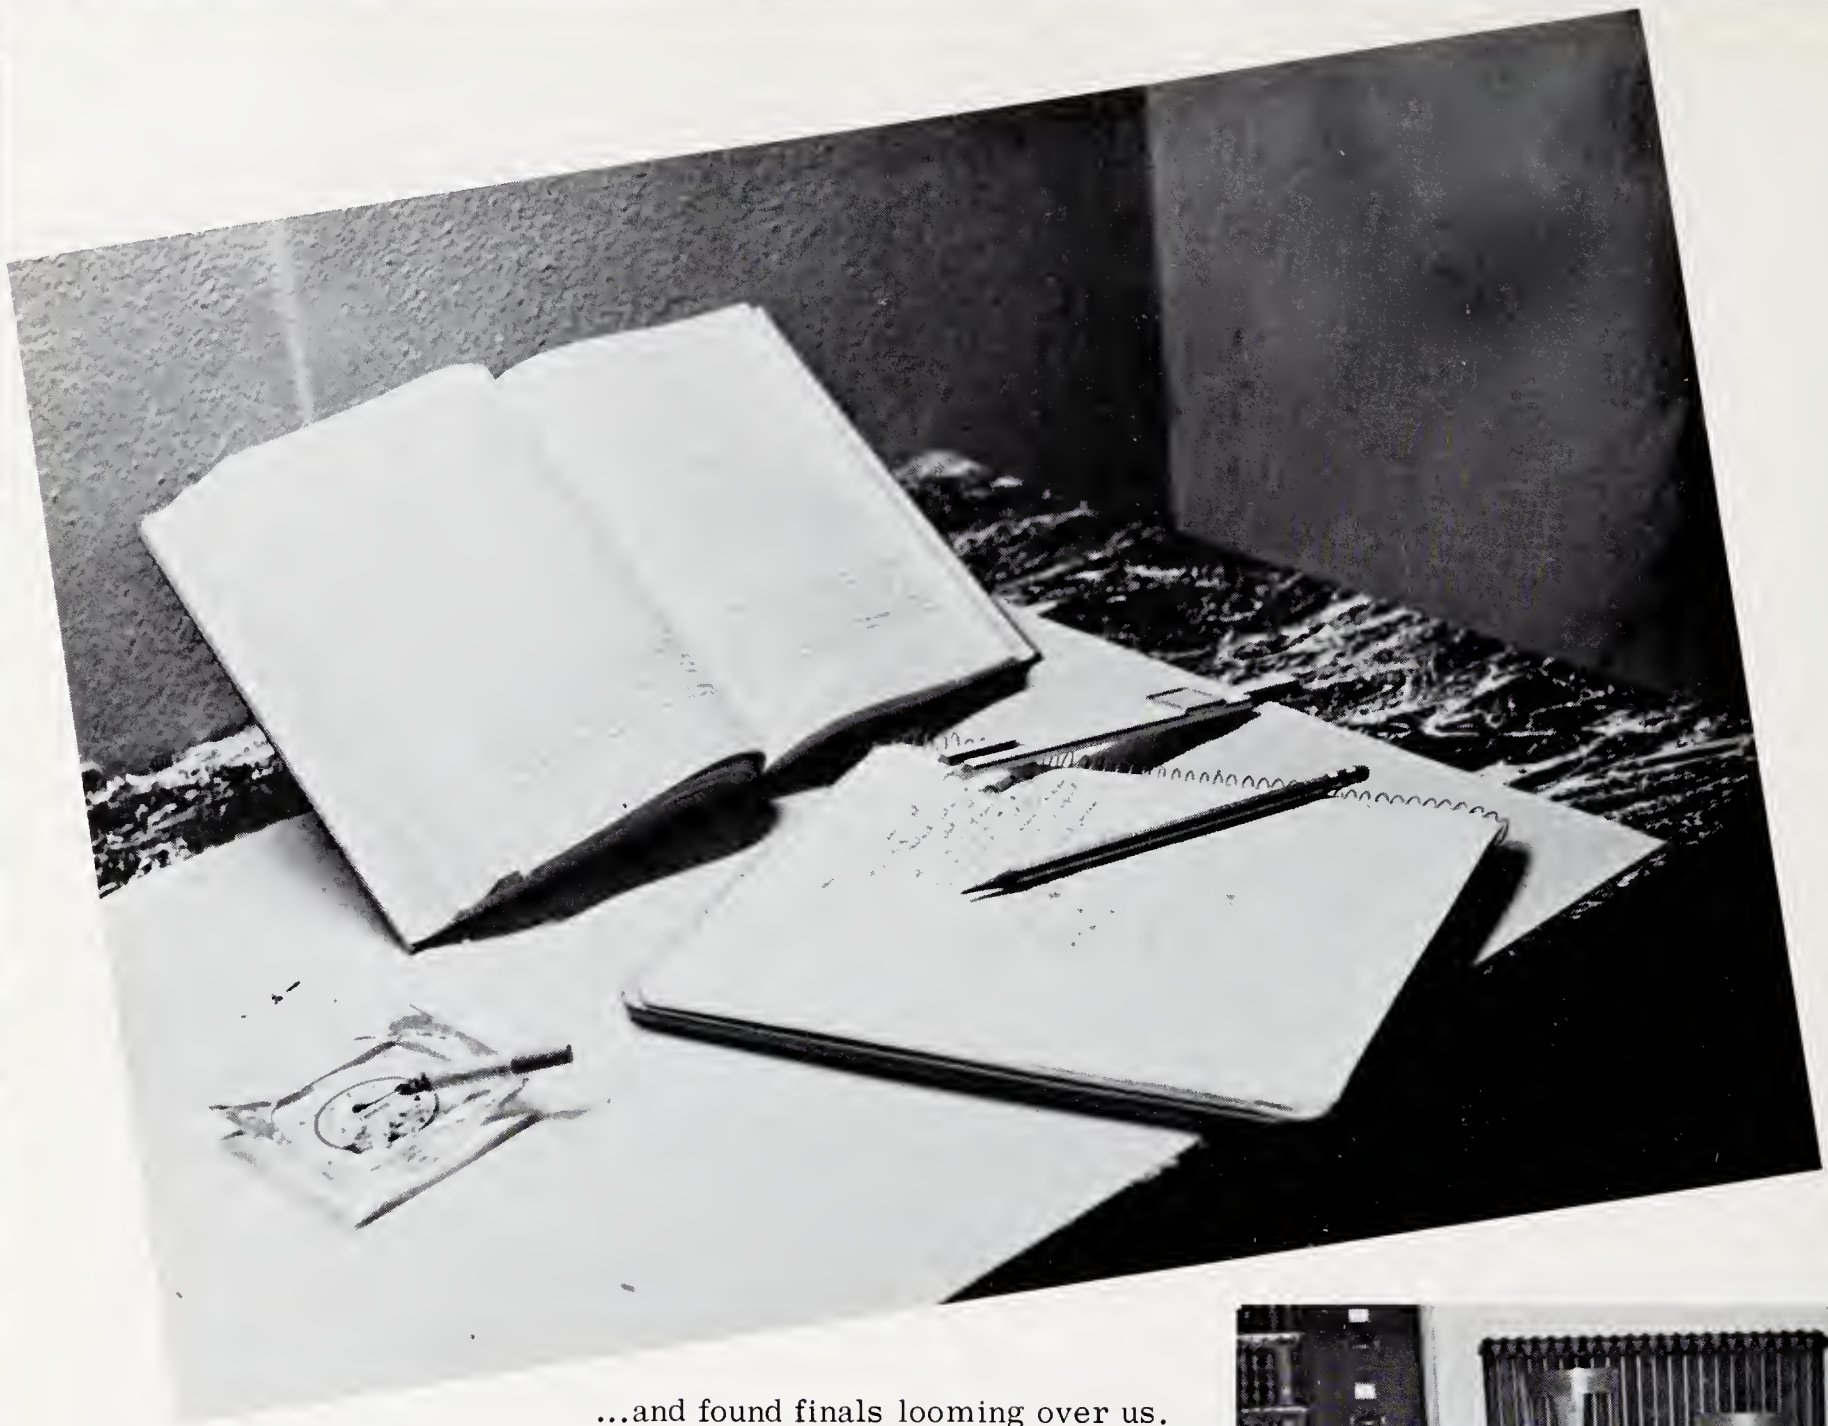

...the Christmas choir concert..

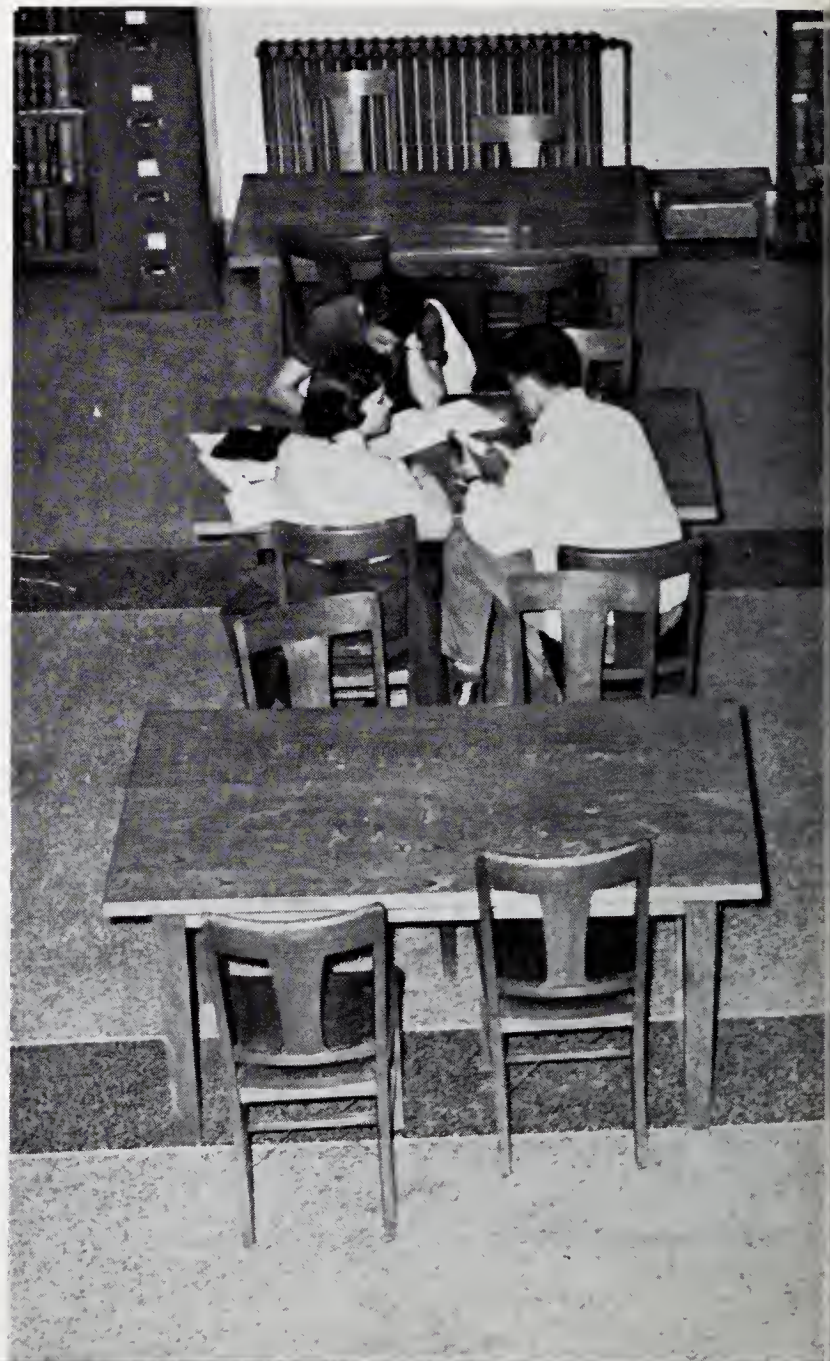

...dinner and carols in Commons..

Christmas settled over the hills at Park, softening them with a warm happy glow. For Christmas meant parties: parties in the dorm, parties in Commons, the Student Union party. It meant bringing out the loved traditions--caroling, decorating the tree in Commons, The Christmas choir concert, dinner and carols in Commons. Most of all it was a quiet excitement almost secret at first in the heart of every student that grew until it clamoured loudly and joyously over the campus "Merry Christmas and happy vacation!" "See you new year" "Dear Mom, I'll be home..."

...and found finals looming over us.

We came back from vacation tired from the abundance of good feeling and fun that is stuffed into Christmas vacation and found finals looming over us. Finally they grew so heavy they fell in on us and we studied in the halls, the library, at tables, at counters, in the J. R., everyday, every hour, every minute. Then in one all-draining effort it was over. We had ended another semester.

we studied in the halls, the library,
at tables . . .

Finals grew so heavy they fell in on us and we studied...

Religion in Life Week March 5-7

...concluding discussion in Hawley Lounge.....

Stray wispy bits of consciousness became concrete and complex vocalizations.

...growth and exploration.

Guest speaker, Dr. David D. Eitzen, Professor of Personality and Religion at Southern California School of Theology at Claremont.

Grouped in circles in the dorm lounges...

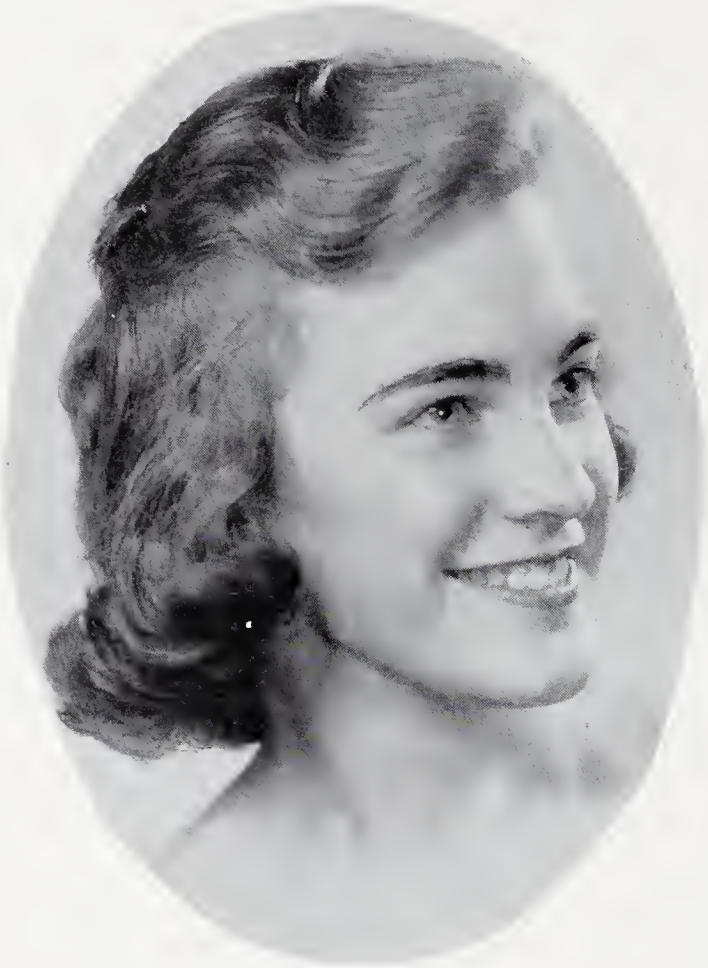

Fosters meetings and plans preceded the actual days of religious study. Then on a cool cloudy morning in the Chapel there was the first sermon of the week. After the sermon there were days of doubts and questions, discussions and debate. Stray wispy bits of consciousness became concrete and complex vocalizations. Grouped in circles in the dorm lounges, clustered in knots in the J. R. and bent together along the campus walks, the thoughts of Religion and Life Week formed, grew and worked toward the concluding discussion in Hawley Lounge, then scattered again into separate wisps...perhaps to continue growth and exploration.

...doubts and questions, discussions and debate.

A.C.C. Rush party gathering.

Anthony Cleopatra Club

The taste of steaming chili on a cold November night...the glamorous pretense of Club Antoine's ... skating, swimming and picnicking ... building a first prize Harvest Festival float --- these meant ACC.

Lancelot Elaine Club

For some of us the alphabet began with LEC...in the fall we dubbed our new members, hosted a pizza party, and rallied behind the banner for a softball championship.. then came winter time activities and plans for our spring car washes...

Partied on Pizza...

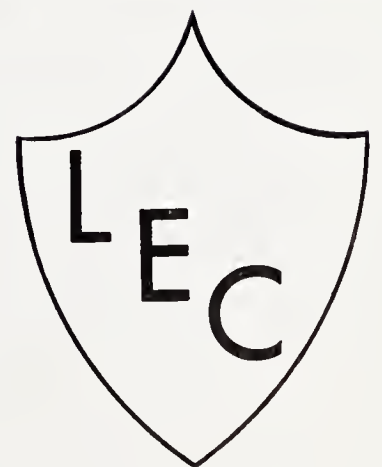

We solemnly dubbed new members...

..Hectic practice for the O.A.C. show...

Orion Aurora Club

For others a club meant OAC -- rush parties, serenades, strange excitement of getting acquainted. It meant decorating for a dance, popping cookies into the oven for a cookie sale ... swimming in January ... hours of hectic practice for the OAC show..."Hail the OAC !"

Parchevard Calliopean Club

Parchies and Callios made a club with a serenade to silent, listening dormitories, a victorious party for a speedball conquest, a hayride through the fall leaves, and nights of building a spectacular varsity show...

Campus Church

The service is over and the choir files out...

We walked down the hill to Chapel every Sunday... scattered flutters of color and movement like leaves drifting into a pile. Inside a gray stone chapel we heard the men of God. Sometimes we became a part of the Campus Church and went to daily morning devotions, or wrote in the Church newsletter, or helped plan W.U.S. Some of us were the organizers of Religion in Life Week. Some of us sat on the Board. Many of us were Big Sisters or Brothers to new students. We all were a part of the activities of the Church.
